Armstrong Relocation Owner Recognized As Difference-Maker

August 27, 2008

MEMPHIS – Karen Fields Isaacman was named by Memphis Woman magazine as one of “50 Women Who Make a Difference.” This recognition was based upon Karen’s leadership, personal efforts and community impact, celebrated at a Recognition Dinner event at Hilton Memphis.

“Karen’s roles as business owner, strategic leader and trusted friend enable her to influence the Armstrong Team and the Memphis community in many significant and positive ways,” said Tom Watson, CEO of Armstrong Relocation. As the daughter of Clyde Springer, a founder of Armstrong Relocation, Karen’s community activities include Memphis Development Foundation Board, Wesley Senior Ministries Foundation Board, Salvation Army Auxiliary Lifetime Member and University of Memphis Ambassador.
